UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN MUSEUM OF ART

CONFERENCE HEALTH:

PRESENT PREDICAMENTS
IN ARCHITECTURE AND
URBAN PLANNING

HEALTH is the fourth installment of a series of conferences exploring present predicaments in architecture and urban planning. This conference will focus on the relationships between architecture, planning, and issues of health and the health industry while exploring the social impact of design decisions.

LIBERTY GALLERY, 305 W. LIBERTY ST.

EXHIBITION RESEARCH ON THE CITY

In its second year, Research on the City is a competitive
faculty research grant program, intended to foster interdisciplinary research on urban topics. Five projects explore aspects of urban challenges or questions, including among others rapid growth or depopulation, environmental challenges and economic instability. The grant program and exhibition are generously supported by Cynthia and Alan Berkshire.
